NEAR PORT ARTHUR

The Main Force of the Japanese Army Concentrating There With Siege Guns.

WILL ATTACK THE STRONGHOLD.

A Repetition of the Strategy of the United States Before Santiago is to Be Attempted.

Effort Will Be Made to Drive the Russian Fleet Out to Battle—No News Received From the First Army Corps.

Shan Hai Kwan, May 13.—A report received from London that there has been fighting at Wu-Fung-Tien is discredited here. It is reported that there is only a small Japanese force in that vicinity.

The main force of the Japanese is said to be concentrated near Port Arthur, with siege guns and their intention is believed to be to attempt a repetition of the strategy of the naval and military forces of the United States before Santliao and to drive the Russian fleet out to battle.

There is no news here of the whereabouts of the first Japanese army corps.

Three hundred and fifty Russian soldiers are at New Chwang and that city is quiet. Most of the white women who resided at New Chwang have gone to Tien-Tsin, but the white men remain there.

The censorship at New Chwang is severe. United States Consul Miller has not been allowed to answer Minister Conger's request for a statement as to the local situation.

Seoul, May 13.—A junk that has arrived at Chemulpo brings a report that heavy explosions were heard at sea early Thursday morning. It is believed here that these explosions occurred either at Port Arthur or Daini. An American miner who left Anju on May 8 has arrived here and reports that a force of 2,900 Russians recently spent the night at Unsan. He says also that large bodies of Russian troops were reported to be in that vicinity. Reports of fighting were received here Thursday, but they lack confirmation.

St. Petersburg, May 13.—Vice Adm. Choukmin, it is announced, has been appointed to command the Black Sea fleet and Rr. Adm. Romsik-Kersakoff, governor of Archangel, will succeed Vice Adm. Choukmin as chief of the naval cadet school.

IN SOUTHERN MANCHURIA.

Further Progress of the Japanese Reported in Official Dispatches.

St. Petersburg, May 13.—Further progress of the Japanese in Southern Manchuria is reported in the official dispatches given out Thursday night. The position of the division which is following the direct road to Hal Cheng has not yet been disclosed, and caution is also apparent in the operations on the peninsula of Liao Tung, where 20,000 Japanese are seeking to render themselves secure in the western section of the peninsula and in the vicinity of and below Pitweso before inaugurating the operations which have been planned.

The report is current that the mikado in answering a message of congratulations on the Yalu victory sent by students of the institute of mines in St. Petersburg, expressed his thanks and good wishes but praised God that he had no such subjects.

C., May 13.—Missionaries, passengers on the liner Empress of India, bring advices of a massacre at a little colony on the west coast of British North Borneo at Kawang railway station, midway between Jesselton and Paper, on March 31. WITH FORGERY.

A Kentucky Life Insurance Man Is Charged on Two Indictments.

Henderson, Ky., May 13.—Wm. Egard, formerly a local agent of the New York Life Insurance Co., was indicted in the circuit court Thursday charged with forgery. The first indictment charges that he forged the name of Thomas L. Farley to an application for $5,000 on Farley's life, the said amount being apportioned into policies of $2,000, $1,000 and $2,000. The date of application is June 27, 1903. The other indictment charges that Egard forged Farley's name in the assignment of a $2,000 policy to G. W. Crutcher, cashier of the Henderson Savings bank, July 14, 1903. Egard pleaded not guilty, and gave bonds. Egard is also defendant in civil suits by the New York Life Insurance Co. against F. H. Frayzer and James L. Dean for the surrender of certain policies under fraud allegations.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.

By Consent of Judge Hargis Jake Noble Is Free.

Jackson, Ky., May 13.—Jake Noble was released from the Breathitt county jail on a $3,000 bond for his appearance at the June term of the Breathitt circuit court to answer an indictment charging him with killing his cousin, Squire James Noble, a justice of the peace, six years ago. Noble was released from the Frankfort penitentiary about ten days ago, after serving a five years' sentence for killing Ed Fugate in the same fight. On his release he was delivered into custody of the jailer to be held to answer the other indictment. By consent of County Judge Hargis admitted him to bail.

JOCKEY JOHNSON HURT.

Golden Link Fell in the Jumping Race at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—Another big crowd saw a fine day's racing at Churchill Downs Thursday. The feature event, the Bashford Manor stakes, for two-year-olds, was easily won by Oiseau, an added starter, who was at odds-on in the betting. Munro laid back with him until they turned into the stretch and then he came on and won as he pleased by three lengths from Florentine. The jumping race furnished another accident, Jockey C. Johnson being badly hurt when Golden Link fell at the sixth jump.

MURDER MYSTERY

Wrapped in Rags the Body of a Six Year Old Girl Found in a Chimney.

WAS MISSING FOR SEVERAL DAYS.

Rewards Aggregating $3,850 Were Offered by Various Persons For the Child's Recovery.

Anonymous Letter Sent to the Mother—The Mysterious Action of a Well Dressed Young Woman May Lead to a Clue.

New York, May 13.—Wrapped in rags in a chimney at her home in Third avenue the body of six-year-old Josephine McCahill, who has been missing since May 2, was found Thursday night. The body was lodged near the top of the chimney and it was necessary to tear away part of the masonry to release it. It is thought the body which was terribly cut up and mutilated was placed there within a day or two.

The McCahill case has attracted much attention, the belief being that the child was kidnapped. Rewards aggregating $3,850 were offered by various persons for her recovery and mass meetings were held to consider plans for conducting the search.

Thursday a letter was received by Mrs. McCahill, the child's mother, which read:

"Dear Friend—As you made such a fuss, I was compelled to kill Josie. If you give $500 to a boy I will send, you can have the body. H. M."

"P. S.—Don't mind stories you hear."

The police considered this letter as the work of some heartless meddler.

After leaving her home on May 2 to play in the street the child was seen in Third avenue with a man described as tall and dark. She had a bag of candy in her hand, but was crying. That is all the police have had to work on. Their search has proceeded on the belief that the man was an Italian and that the girl would eventually be found in one of the Italian colonies in this or some nearby city.

An examination of the body later disclosed that it was badly decomposed but that it had not been mutilated. It has been learned that children of the neighborhood have been accustomed to hide in the chimneys while at play on the roofs and the police now believe that the McCahill girl climbed onto the chimney and fell into it.

Twice Thursday, before the body was found, a well dressed young woman called at the McCahill home and said that she had a presentiment that the child would be found in the chimney. On her second visit she expressed surprise that a search of the chimney had not been made on her previous suggestion. She refused to give her name or address and the police are now trying to find her. It was after her second visit that the investigation was made which resulted in the finding of the body.

THE JURY SECURED.

Special Deputy Sworn in to Help Guard James Gillespie.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 13.—The jury finally secured in the Gillespie trial is as follows: Albert Pate, David Bailey, David H. Gibson, George Reiman, W. J. Spaulding, Hugh French, William Ward, Martin Scranton, Samuel Campbell, sr., farmer; J. S. Thompson, engineer; Ira Powell, farmer; J. P. Hanna, farmer. The last four are new jurors. Before the testimony started the jury was sent to view the premises where the tragedy occurred.

Because of the display of temper of James Gillespie Wednesday afternoon, when being taken to jail, Judge Downey has ordered a special deputy to accompany Sheriff Rump with the prisoner to and from the courtroom. Gillespie was angered at an attempt to secure a snapshot photo, and stooped as though to secure a stone. Rump caught him and hurried him to jail. Thomas Overly, city marshal, was sworn in as a special deputy for that particular work. He had a talk with Gillespie, being sworn in, and told him as long as he acted right there would be no trouble, and he would be treated right.

TO SUCCEED HANNA.

Judge Gray Nominated For President of the National Civic Federation.

Philadelphia, May 13.—It has been learned that Judge George Gray has been chosen by the nominating committee of the National Civic Federation to succeed the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna as president of the federation. At the recent meeting of the federation the matter of filling the vacancy caused by Senator Hanna's death was delegated to a nominating committee composed of Bishop Potter and President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers. They have agreed upon Judge Gray as the most likely man for the place and will recommend his selection at the next meeting of the federation. The election of Judge Gray is to be deferred until after the national democratic convention in St. Louis for fear it might seem that the federation is aiding in making a possible candidate conspicuous or important.

COLORED BARKEEPERS.

They Are Barred By the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union.

Rochester, N. Y., May 13.—The delegates to the convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees International Alliance and the Bartenders' League have unanimously adopted a resolution that no charter be granted hereafter in any city to the colored bartenders in the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma territory and Indian territory unless by permission of a majority of locals, and no colored bartender be permitted to work on a traveling card in any of the states mentioned. This last provision is intended to strike down the employment of colored labor on buffet railroad cars. One reason given for the adoption of the resolution is that bartenders in the south are unskilled workmen.

GEN. A. J. HICKENLOOPER.

The Well-Known Cincinnati Passed Away at His Home.

Cincinnati, May 13.—Gen. Andrew J. Hickenlooper died at 12:45 o'clock Thursday, after an exhausting illness, which had lasted for months. At the time of his death the various members of his family were grouped about the bedside. Although the end had been anticipated for some weeks past, as apt to occur at any moment, his death was rather unexpected Thursday morning. That is to say, there were no indications in advance that dissolution was about to occur, and the aged business man dropped into death as easily and gently as though he had but gone to sleep.

For a number of years Gen. Hickenlooper was president of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., but resigned a few months ago owing to ill health. He served his country with distinction in the civil war.

Mr. Carlton sent the invitation some time ago through United States Minister Powell Clayton.

President Diaz replied to Mr. Carlton to the effect that he had caused the invitation to be published in the leading Mexican papers to the end that all Mexican veterans might learn of it, and expressing cordial wishes for the success of the reunion.

THE HUNTED MAN.

Desperado Dietz Still Barriaded in His Home Defying Officers to Arrest Him.

IMPOSSIBLE TO TAKE HIM ALIVE.

Probable That Capt. Mowatt and Company of Militia Will Be Ordered to the Scene.

Dietz and Party Have Winchester, Revolvers and Plenty of Ammunition and Have Made Loopholes in the Walls.

Hayward, Wis., May 13.—Deputy Sheriff Gliblin returned Thursday night from the scene of the conflict where the desperado, John Dietz, holds forth. Mr. Gliblin says it is almost impossible to get Dietz alive, as he is entrenched behind the locks of the dam with a commanding view of the surroundings. Dietz had, he said, secured a fresh supply of ammunition from Bayfield, this enabling him to hold out for a long period. Sheriff Peterson and a few deputies only now remain upon the scene.

Twenty-four Krag-Jorgensen rifles and 720 rounds of ammunition sent from Ashland are at the express office here consigned to Sheriff Peterson. The express agent has been notified to hold the consignment until he receives orders from Gov. LaFollette. Capt. Mowatt, of Ashland, who sent the rifles on the order of Judge Parish, does not believe the guns will be ordered to be turned over to the sheriff, but that he will be ordered to proceed with his company from Ashland.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 13.—The Chippewa Lumber and Boom Co. has abandoned its drive at Cameron dam on account of the Dietz trouble. About 150,000 logs lie high and dry, as Dietz will not allow gates closed. Trouble may delay all operations of the large mill here if continued long. Dietz sent a note to the deputies defying them to capture him, saying it will take a whole regiment to do so and may cost many lives should they attempt it. He is now fortified in his home in company with his wife, Valentine W. Eisenbach and three children. They have six Winchester, five revolvers and plenty of ammunition and have made holes in the walls of the house through which the rifles peep ready to kill the first deputy crossing the dead line. The doors and windows are barricaded.

Barrow, Wis., May 13.—John Dietz writes to his brother, W. W. Dietz, of Rice Lake, Wis., as follows:

"The guerilla band are here from Hayward in full force making threats to shoot me, are armed to the teeth. They think they will get revenge for the part I took in the election two years ago. They claim to have a bench warrant for my body dead or alive, but have not tried to serve it. This is a nice state of affairs for I have not done a thing only to post a notice for the company not to trespass."

A request from friends of Dietz was Thursday sent to Gov. LaFollette asking that he take a hand in the matter and guarantee protection to the hunted man.

BALLOON EXPLODED.

Eight Persons Were Injured, Two Dangerously, in Paris.

Paris, May 13.—A balloon belonging to the well-known aeronaut, Capt. Surcouf, came down in the place d'Amiens Thursday afternoon and the wind drove it into the narrow entrance of a street. A moment later it came in contact with the side of a house. A flame issued from the envelop and then a violent explosion followed, the sheets of flame from which penetrated the open windows of the building. Eight occupants of the house were burned or otherwise injured, two dangerously. The aeronaut was not hurt.

President Roosevelt, it is claimed, is exceedingly anxious that nothing shall be done to offend any prospective contributor to the Republican campaign fund. The shipbuilding scandal will have to be laid on the shelf until after the election.

MISS MOLLIE MCKRELL.

Sister of the Late M. McKrell Died Thursday in Cincinnati—Burial at Ripley Saturday.

Miss Mollie McKrell, who had many relatives and friends in this city and county, died Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fillmore, in Cincinnati. The remains will be brought to Ripley and laid to rest in Maplewood Cemetery, the funeral taking place some time Saturday.

Miss McKrell was a sister of the late Mordacai McKrell and niece of the late J. B. Burgess of this city. Her family lived at Mayslick some time but she had made her home with her sister, Mrs. Evans of Ripley, for several years.

A $25 black horse belonging to August Perrant ran into the transfer wagon at Ripley and snagged himself so badly that he died a half hour later. Mr. Perrant thinking the horse might get frightened at the O. R. C. railroad trains, drove down on Front street and hitched. Shortly afterwards a steamboat came along, and when near the landing, blew her whistle, causing the horse to break loose and run off, with the result as stated above.

The flower lover can have a flower garden if she possesses only sufficient space to plant a barrel in her tiny yard. A large, well hooped barrel may be prepared for this purpose by knocking out the head, cleaning the inside and drilling some small holes in the bottom for drainage. Drill holes three inches in diameter and six inches apart in the sides. Fill the barrel with good garden soil and raise it a few inches above the ground. Tuck into the holes in the sides wandering jew, nasturtiums, heliotropes, fuchsias, pansies, etc. The usual window box flowers will thrive beautifully in the top.—Ladies' Home Journal.

THE BOND AND THE FREE.

A Story of the Reconstruction Period of the South.

Below will be found a very interesting review of a short story recently published in a Boston periodical—a strong, affecting story of Southern life. The writer of the review is Hon. Charles H. Collins, of Ohio, a lawyer of distinction, and one of the most brilliant contributors to the Ohio press. The author of the story is Mr. Montgomery Pickett, an active and successful business man of Chicago. He is a native of this State, and has many relatives and friends in this city and county:

There is a story in the Black Cat Magazine for February, 1901, written by Montgomery R. Pickett, son of Jos. Pickett, of Kentucky, entitled, "The General's Term of Office," which in a simple, unaffected manner tells a story of touching pathos. It is a true picture of noble traits of the Southern gentleman of the old school and of the ex slave reared under such auspices. Mr. Pickett knows how to describe such scenes and such characters because he too was reared under such environments.

Only the men of the South comprehend the real soul of the South. To the North it is a sealed book and not to be understood. It never can be and never will be, and yet this brief story by Mr. Pickett gives a fleeting glance into what has happened often. The Civil war ruined the old-time planters and broke up the patriarchal system, yet the former slaves (where not debauched by the carpet-bag robbers) remained with their former owners.

Mr. Pickett tells the story of the old General and of his devoted wife: of Sam Washington, the faithful negro who, although now free, still remained with his old master. The General was ruined in fortune in his old age, and, troubled with an affection of the heart, was compelled to accept the office of Sheriff of his county as a means of livelihood, and was voted for by his former slaves. Sam Washington is accused of murder. The evidence is purely circumstantial, but he is convicted, as he refuses to tell the name of the real culprit. The murderer was a worthless negro named Mose, who was a son-in-law of Sam Washington. Now it is characteristic of the negro never to betray his kindred. The General hired and paid a lawyer out of his meager salary to defend Sam. After Sam's conviction he made fruitless appeals to the Governor to pardon him or respite him, as Sam was innocent. All was in vain, and it was devolved on the General as Sheriff to hang an innocent man—his faithful former slave who in olden days had saved the life of his mistress at the risk of losing his own. The General tells the incident in his appeal to the Governor. It occurred fifty years before, at the General's wedding. The General tells how his wife was but slightly injured, and the negro scarred for life by burns. "Governor," he continued, his voice full of feeling, "that negro was Sam Washington, my body servant. When the war came he followed me through it all, and bore the dead bodies of my boys from the battle-field. It was from his trembling lips I first learned they were dead. I know every impulse of this man's heart, Governor, and I beg you will believe me, sir, he is innocent of any crime." The Governor was deeply moved by the General's story, but refused to interfere. For the rest of the story up to the fated day of execution, I refer to the magazine, with its lustrous pathos, but can not refrain from giving the ending in the beautiful language of Mr. Pickett:

"Cross your hands, Sam," the Sheriff said, taking up a rope to bind them. But, instead, for one moment, as if by some strange, mysterious influence of the soul, the Testament still in his hands, the negro raised his arms reverently toward heaven, his lips moving silently. As he did so, the sleeves of the death-gown and of his poor ragged shirt beneath fell to his elbows. The Sheriff of Hancock County started with pain as he saw the great scars, pitiable yet in the silent story of the agony the man had suffered years ago. The Sheriff's frail military figure straightened and his faded eyes shone as he quickly turned and faced the crowd. "Gentlemen," he said, lifting his hand, "Gentlemen, friends," he implored, "most of you have known me since your boyhood. Is there one of you who can say that I have ever left undone a duty to my State, to my country or to my fellow-man? But, gentlemen," and his voice rang with determination, "as Sheriff of this county, as one who loves his duty as he sees it, who loves the law of his land, and as an humble Christian who hopes to meet his God, I refuse to execute this innocent man!" The momentary stillness which comes when men's hearts are stirred was broken by a voice some distance down the street shouting "Wait! wait!" It was the telegraph operator from the little railway station, who had left his key almost before he finished writing the telegram he was frantically waving. The Sheriff saw him from the scaffold's height, and intuitively his face softened. The excited operator hustled his way through the crowd, and running breathlessly up the steps handed the yellow slip to the Sheriff, who glanced at it, a look of triumph lighted his pale face. He made no comment, but read aloud:

"To the Sheriff of Hancock County: Do not execute Samuel Washington. Sworn confession of negro named Mose Jones just filed in my office may prove him innocent. Await instructions. "Geo. R. Nelson, Governor.

The Sheriff's voice was firm throughout until the last word, which was broken by a sudden gasp. The telegram dropped from his fingers as he threw both hands to his heart, and then fell limply into Sam Washington's black arms, which folded like an iron cross upon his brave old breast. The General's term of office had ended." "Could anything be finer? This is an illad of a Christian land of which a Homerie era had no conception. The dead General on the breast of poor old Sam, in whose hands still remained the little worn Testament which the General's wife had given him when with her husband and boys he had marched away to the wars.

Breathe Hyomei Three or Four Times Daily and Be Cured of Catarrh.

J. James Wood & Son, one of the most reliable business firms in Maysville, have seen many instances of the remarkable power of Hyomei to cure catarrhal troubles and other disorders of the respiratory organs.

Results in this treatment have given them so much confidence in Hyomei that they will give a month's trial with the positive understanding that if at the end of that time a cure is not effected or enough relief gained to warrant a continued use of the treatment for a while longer, the money will be refunded.

Hyomei is the only treatment for catarrh that has ever been sold under a "no cure, no pay" plan, and the only one where a month's trial treatment is free unless it cures.

Hyomei is not a pill or liquid. Just breathe it through the neat inhaler that comes with every outfit, and benefit will be seen from the first day's use. Breathed in this way, the health-giving Hyomei penetrates to the minutest air cells of the lungs, and drives catarrhal germs and poisons from the system.

The complete outfit costs but $1, and extra bottles of Hyomei may be obtained for 50c.

Remember that if Hyomei does not cure you after a month's trial, J. James Wood & Son will refund your money and the treatment will be absolutely free.

A BRACKEN CASE.

Opinion of Appellate Court in Suit of O'Neal Versus the F. A. Neider Company.

Affirming the above case, taken up from Augusta, the Court of Appeals says: Appellant O'Neal was elected Treasurer of the appellee corporation at the first meeting of the Board of Directors, June 8, 1901. A by-law of the corporation provided that the Treasurer "shall be elected at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors in September in each year, who shall hold his office until the next annual meeting, or until his successor was elected." No election was held in September, 1901. He was removed from his office by the directors without cause January 29, 1902. His salary was $1,200 per year, for which he sued, filed, that under the by-laws of the company and under Section 542, Kentucky Statutes, regulating corporations, the Board of Directors had the right to remove him at any time without cause, and are not liable for damages for so doing.

"ELKS HOME."

Elegant New Quarters of Maysville Lodge Formally Dedicated Last Evening.

Reception Preceded and Banquet Followed the Ceremony—Distinguished Speakers Present.

Maysville's contingent of the "best people on earth" were among the happiest last evening. They had abundant reasons for their rejoicing, for it was the occasion of the formal dedication of their elegant new home just completed in the St. Charles Hotel building on Front street.

The handsome quarters embrace a suite of eight rooms on the third floor of the building. The lodge room proper faces the river, and from its windows there is afforded one of the most magnificent views on the Ohio river. The room throughout is richly furnished, the furniture being quartered oak with leather trimmings, while a carpet of handsome figure covers the floor. Back of this are the ladies' parlor, rooms for the Secretary, Treasurer and for committees, while on the south end of the floor is located the billiard hall, where members and guests can while away their leisure hours in this amusement. The rooms throughout are elegantly furnished, and the "home" is provided with every convenience. The entrance is from "Elks' Avenue."

Maysville lodge expended about $2,500 in remodeling and furnishing the "home," and the Elks are certainly to be congratulated on possessing one of the handsomest and most complete lodge rooms in Northern Kentucky.

Thursday afternoon this new "home" was thrown open to the public, and from 2 to 5 o'clock a public reception was held. The rooms were thronged, fully 200 calling during the afternoon, and all were loud in their words of praise and admiration. The occasion was rendered the more enjoyable by some delightful music, under the direction of Prof. Bullette.

Beginning at 7:30 o'clock, the formal dedication ceremonies were held. Exalted Ruler Gordon Sulser presided, and was assisted by the other officers of the lodge and by Col. John H. Stewart of Frankfort, District Deputy for Eastern Kentucky. Other distinguished visitors were Dean Baker P. Lee of Lexington, and Mr. Wm. Bodmer of Cincinnati, District Deputy for Southern Ohio.

At the close of the ceremonies, the Elks and their guests adjourned to the Central Hotel, where Mine Host Daugherty had a royal spread awaiting them. Covers were laid for fifty. Some time was spent in the enjoyment of this delicious

Shave Yourself

It is a pleasure and real home comfort with the genuine "Three Star," the original and mechanical perfect Safety Razor. Saves money, time and inconvenience. The expense of being shaved by a barber amounts to about $40 or $50 a year to the average gentleman. It is impossible to estimate the value of time lost in the barber shop, as you are very often compelled to wait until the barber gets ready to call "next." To shave comfortably with the Star takes from three to five minutes and requires absolutely no experience. It is impossible to cut your face or even scratch same while shaving yourself.

The Star Safety Razor

has been on the markets of the world for the last quarter of the century, has always proved that it is what it professed to be—"The Gentleman's friend." It has given such absolute and general satisfaction that it hardly seems necessary to call attention to the fact that it is the first Safety Razor that does not belie its name and which renders shaving an easy and convenient luxury.

Baking Powder Economy

It's downright economy to pay a fair price for the baking powder you use—a price that buys an absolutely cream tartar and soda baking powder. Such a powder leavens better and diminishes the probability of failure in baking. But the chief economy lies in its harmlessness. Alum or ammonia powders are always injurious and their harm comes so gradually that one doesn't suspect the cause.

CHENOWETH'S BAKING POWDER.....

is always fresh, always pure and always alike in leavening strength. It is a cream tartar and soda powder that costs you as little as such a powder can be sold for. To pay more or less is extravagance.
